

The UFO

There it was. It was beyond words, but I could describe it in one. UFO. It shot out a strange beam of light onto a cow in the farm I was standing nearby, and picked it up without any thing touching it. Then it flew off into space 500 times the speed of light. I fainted with shock, but after what seemed like seconds, I realised it was just a dream. I was relieved, until I saw it on the news. It baffled me that what I saw was true, and maybe, just maybe, that more could come and that human kind could be over!

Could this be the end?
