Dog's Great Search

Ned

Arooo! Dog let out a bark to tell Magpie to wake up so Dog checked Magpie's spot but there was no black and white bird. Then Dog thought she got up early and outside his cave was a feather.
So Dog circled his cave once then he ran to pond...
Only charred red dessert could be seen. Dog said to himself "there is Magpie?" As Dog slowly walked around the pond unexpectedly a dust storm struck! As sand flew everywhere some pithinbones flew overhead. Dog was so freaked out

Magpie's search for Dog.

As Magpie jornies through the hot, dastly, desert she feels really, really guilty. Magpie misses Dog, alot, Magpie, searches every where for Dog. The hot, burning desert sand burns Magpie's small feet.

After four exhausting weeks of searching for friendly Dog nothing is found but cactuses and old rocks. But then fox comes along, in a disguise of a spiky cactus but Magpie thinks that it is not Fox she thinks it's a owl that's inside of the spiky cactus but then Fox says "I flew all the way to where you live and over heard Dog saying that he doesn't want to be your friend!"

Maggie thought about those words but kept on searching for helpful, kind, Dog. Maggie searched the dark, woods, mysterious caves.

Until a herd of animals came and saw Maggie resting on a oak tree and took her to Dog who was so happy to see her.
