

Children shouldn't have ipads in their room! Matilda

I strongly believe that children shouldn't have ipads in their room. There are many reasons for this and I will tell you now.

Firstly, I think this because many kids have messy rooms and if kids have messy rooms there is a possibility that children can lose their ipads. The reasons are that if you lose your ipad your parents will get extremely angry with you. There also is about 90% chance that you will get a consequence. (For example no desert for a month)

Secondly, I think that children shouldn't have ipads in their room because they might go on a very inappropriate website. The reasons for this are that you might get really bad information from that website which you could spread to your friends. Also your parents will definitely get angry with you for looking at something you shouldn't and for not telling them when they find out.

In conclusion, everyone knows that people make mistakes but looking on inappropriate things and losing ipads can lead to consequences. I hope you can look after your own ipad and keep

Children Should Have An Ipad In Thier Bedroom

I strongly believe that children should have an ipad in thier bedroom.

Firstly, I believe that if you have an ipad in your bedroom you can comunicate with people. It is a good idea because there might be an emergency. It is also a good idea because you might really need to tell someone something.

Secondly, I believe that if your ipad is in your bedroom you can set an alarm. It is a good idea because you might have have to get up early in the morning. If you don't set an alarm you might be late fo school in the morning.

In conclusion, I believe that you should be allowed to have your ipad in your bedroom. Do you think you should have your ipad in your bedroom or you shouldn't have an ipad in your bedroom!
